Sights to see in Bad Herrenalb and the surrounding area

Bad Herrenalb Museum

In its permanent exhibition the museum displays the Bernt collection of special handmade „end-of-work-tiles“ (it was a tradition to mark the last tile of the day). The exhibition complemented by earlier tiles from the former brick kiln dating back to the 15th century. In April 2019 the exhibition was expanded by the facsimile of the ancient prayer book, whose original counterpart was made in the monastery of Bad Herrenalb. The facsimile is now part of the permanent exhibition. 8

Spa centre and spa gardens

The cultural center in Bad Herrenalb is the spa building, built around 1894, surrounded by its naturally remodeled spa gardens. Cultivated park meadows, blooming bank and forest meadows as well as the idyllic river Alb invite to linger. Festivities of all kinds as well as exhibitions and concerts take place regularly in the spa house as well as outdoors in the concert house in the shape of a shell. Soothing healing waters can be tasted by the guests next to the spa house in the pavilion. A real eye-catcher are the popular bronze sculptures, which transform the spa gardens into a true art space. And in the middle of the fantasy garden, an old millstone and a public bookcase provide the ideal space for dreaming. 7

Cistercian monastery / Historic Trail

The monastery founded in 1149 by Count Berthold III of Eberstein constitutes the heart of the town that was subsequently developed. Some buildings have survived. The Historical Trail leads guests to different information points, that provide insights into the history and background of the monastery. The trail continues along the monastery walls running parallel to the pretty Gaisbach stream offering further fascinating facts about the area. Flyers are available in English and French at the Tourist Information Bad Herrenalb. Directly adjacent to the monastery is the historic „Klosterstrasse“ („monastery street“) with shops, cafés and restaurants. 4

View Point Falkenstein

There is an exceptional view of the town from the Falkenstein rocks. 5

Kneipp basins

You can go water-treading in one of our Kneipp basins by the monastery, in the „Dobelbachweg“ or in the village of Bernbach.

Schweizerwiese

In front of the imposing Falkenstein rocks lies the large green area of the Schweizerwiese which is an ideal leisure paradise for young and old alike. Whether on the Falkenstein playground or in the middle of the green grass area, which is also ideal for sledding in winter – the Schweizerwiese offers an ideal recreational area. The biotope around a pond with a fountain is especially interesting for nature lovers.

Ettlingen – approx. 20 km

The centre of this 1,200-years-old town is well worth seeing with its many restored buildings, the baroque castle and timber-framed houses as well as its leisurely shopping area with cafés and restaurants. For art and culture lovers there is a wide variety of events ranging from music and dance to theatre, cabaret and exhibitions.

Baden-Baden – approx. 25 km

This elegant spa town welcomes you with a casino, a philharmonic orchestra, an art gallery, a theatre, festival hall, museums and a racecourse. It is also famous for its thermal baths and spa facilities.

Karlsruhe – approx. 30 km

With its palace, galleries, museum of fine art, „Badische Staatstheater“ and zoo, the former residence of the Grand Dukes of Baden, has many tourist attractions to offer. It also has excellent shopping facilities!

Calw – approx. 35 km

The home town of the famous German author and painter Hermann Hesse with its historic old town and its quaint half-timbered houses invites you to stroll and to linger.

Freudenstadt – approx. 65 km

Freudenstadt in the northern Black Forest offers the biggest market place, an impressive town church as well as a historic exhibition mine and Panorama-Bath. There is a great view on Freudenstadt from the „Friedrichsturm“.

Stuttgart – approx. 75 km

The state capital of Baden-Wuerttemberg is well worth a visit on account of its castle, the state parliament of Baden-Wuerttemberg, its theatre, opera, musicals and world-famous ballet, its museums and the famous art gallery „Staatsgalerie Stuttgart“, to name just a few. And the „Königsstrasse“ is a well-known shopping mile.
